

July 21, 2011

Last week, we were thrilled to have Colin Hayes join us for an informative session on the bills that are being reviewed in the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee. One of the bills was introduced recently by Senator Lisa Murkowski from Alaska, who spoke recently to our TREM11 delegates.

Biography

Colin Hayes returned to the Senate Energy & Natural Resources Committee as Professional Staff in 2007, where he is now responsible for the climate change, CO2 sequestration, clean energy finance, and mining portfolio under Ranking Member Lisa Murkowski (AK). Previously, Colin served as Legislative Assistant to Senator Craig Thomas (WY) for energy and environmental issues. Prior to that, he held a number of positions with Senator Pete V. Domenici (NM) both in his personal office and on the Energy & Natural Resources Committee from 2003 to 2006.

Listen to the conference here:

{denvideo /audio/colin_hayes_call_20110715.mp3}

To hear Colin Hayes' conference call from last year, click here .